

American Physiological Society Chapters

American Physiological Society (APS) chapters are independent nonprofit organizations that serve to promote physiology research, education and outreach at a local and regional level.

APS chapters are located in the areas highlighted below. Participating in a chapter helps to advance and spotlight exceptional high impact physiological science in your region. Join your local chapter today or learn how you can start a chapter in your area.

Visit the APS Social Hub and Get to Know
Chapter Leadership

Sunday & Monday
11 a.m. – 1 p.m.

Find us in the exhibit hall at the APS Social Hub located directly across from APS booth 405.

Stop by the APS Social Hub, meet chapter leadership and learn more about how you can get involved on the local level.

physiology.org/chapters

american physiological society®

